About Us

The true practice of self-care is allowing yourself to pay attention to physical and emotional health needs, practice mindfulness, and spend time with people we care about. 🧘

But who has the time for that? ⌚

We are busy people, juggling careers and families 📅. We are exhausted parents raising young children with constant needs. We are professionals doing our best to serve customers while providing financially.

That's why we created PengWing. We innovate, source, and produce unique and cutting edge products with one single purpose: make the practice of self-care accessible for people with busy lives, and help our customers to operate as their best selves.
